Summary

On September 14, 2007, President George W. Bush signed the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007 (P.L. 110-81), into law. The Honest Leadership and Open Government Act (HLOGA) amended the Lobbying Disclosure Act (LDA) of 1995 (P.L. 104-65, as amended) to provide, among other changes to federal law and House and Senate rules, additional and more frequent disclosures of lobbying contacts and activities. This report explains the role of the Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate in the implementation and administration of lobbying registration and disclosure requirements and summarizes the guidance documents they have jointly issued.

Under the LDA, the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate manage the registration, filing, and collection of documents submitted by lobbyists and lobbying firms. Prior to the HLOGA, lobbyists were required to file paper documents with both the Clerk and the Secretary. Lobbyists now file forms electronically and jointly with the Clerk and the Secretary. In addition, the Clerk and the Secretary are responsible for making documents publicly available and reporting incorrect or false filings to the U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

Beginning in December 2007, the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate issued joint guidance documents for HLOGA implementation. The initial guidance document identified eight substantive changes to the 1995 Lobbying Disclosure Act, and discussed how the Clerk and Secretary interpret and implement the HLOGA's provisions. In addition, the guidance document provided direction on successful completion of registration and quarterly disclosure documents, the new semiannual requirement to report campaign contributions, and interpretation of the Clerk and Secretary's role in referring noncompliance to the U.S. attorney.

Since issuing the initial guidance document in 2007, the Clerk of the House and Secretary of the Senate, pursuant to 2 U.S.C. §1605, have conducted periodic reviews of existing guidance and have issued multiple updates. The Clerk and the Secretary updated the document on February 28, 2021.

Background

Since 1946, Congress on four occasions has approved legislation designed to regulate lobbyist contact with Members of Congress. The initial provisions, which were contained in the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, required that lobbyists register with the House of Representatives and the Senate and disclose certain receipts and expenditures.¹ In 1995, the enactment of the Lobbying Disclosure Act repealed the 1946 act and created a detailed system of reporting thresholds. In 1998, Congress passed technical amendments to the 1995 law. Finally, in 2007, Congress further amended the 1995 act to enhance disclosure and reporting requirements for lobbyists and lobbying firms.

The Lobbying Disclosure Act (LDA) of 1995 provided specific thresholds and definitions of lobbyists, lobbying activities, and lobbying contacts, compared to the 1946 act.² In reporting the LDA, the House Judiciary Committee summarized the need for new lobbying provisions:

The Act is designed to strengthen public confidence in government by replacing the existing patchwork of lobbying disclosure laws with a single, uniform statute which covers the activities of all professional lobbyists. The Act streamlines disclosure requirements to ensure that meaningful information is provided and requires all professional lobbyists to register and file regular, semiannual reports identifying their clients, the issues on which they lobby, and the amount of their compensation. It also creates a more effective and equitable system for administering and enforcing the disclosure requirements.³

The technical amendments made to the LDA in 1998 clarified the definition of covered executive branch officials, more clearly defined what constitutes a lobbying contact, and provided that organizations, whose lobbying activities are limited by their Internal Revenue Code (IRC) nonprofit status,⁴ could use their tax estimates to report lobbying activities. In reporting the 1998 technical amendments, the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs explained the need for change:

Once the LDA was implemented by the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate, several minor problems with the language of the statute materialized. The offices of the Clerk and the Secretary have sought to interpret the LDA with respect to these problems in accordance with the original intent of the law, but it is necessary and appropriate to conform the language of the law to intent, and that is the motivation behind the introduction of S. 758.⁵

The most recent amendments to the LDA, the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007 (HLOGA), mandated additional and more frequent disclosures.⁶

Since 1946, the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate have had joint responsibility for implementing systems to register lobbyists. Under the 1946 act, individuals, groups, and organizations involved in lobbying activities were required to keep detailed financial records and to file financial statements with the Clerk. Lobbyists also were required to register before engaging in lobbying activities and file quarterly reports with the Clerk and the Secretary. The Clerk was then required to maintain these records for two years.⁷

The 1995 act, as amended, modified the responsibilities of the Clerk and the Secretary. In addition to collecting registration and disclosure documents from lobbyists, the Clerk and the Secretary are required to

- (1) provide guidance and assistance on the registration and reporting requirements of this Act and develop common standards, rules, and procedures for compliance with this Act;
- (2) review, and, where necessary, verify and inquire to ensure the accuracy, completeness, and timeliness of registration and reports;
- (3) develop filing, coding, and cross-indexing systems to carry out the purpose of this Act, including—
 - (A) a publicly available list of all registered lobbyists, lobbying firms, and their clients; and
 - (B) computerized systems designed to minimize the burden of filing and maximize public access to materials filed under this Act;
- (4) make available for public inspection and copying at reasonable times the registrations and reports filed under this Act;
- (5) retain registrations for a period of at least 6 years after they are terminated and reports for a period of at least 6 years after they are filed;
- (6) compile and summarize, with respect to each semiannual period, the information contained in registrations and reports filed with respect to such period in a clear and complete manner;
- (7) notify any lobbyist or lobbying firm in writing that may be in noncompliance with this Act; and
- (8) notify the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia that a lobbyist or lobbying firm may be in noncompliance with this Act, if the registrant has been notified in writing and has failed to provide an appropriate response within 60 days after notice.⁸

The HLOGA further requires the Clerk and the Secretary to electronically register lobbyists and collect quarterly disclosure and semiannual contribution reports; make registrations and filings available on the internet; and review each registration and filing for accuracy, notify lobbyists of a misfiling, and refer appropriate cases to the U.S. attorney's office for the District of Columbia.⁹ To meet these responsibilities, the Clerk and the Secretary use a single electronic filing system, whereby lobbyists and lobbying firms register once and documents are automatically transmitted to both offices.¹⁰

Role of Clerk of the House and Secretary of the Senate

The Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate are responsible for implementing the LDA's lobbyist registration and disclosure provisions for the House of Representatives, the Senate, and the executive branch. As neither the Clerk nor the Secretary have rule-writing or regulatory authority under the LDA, but the law directs the offices to provide guidance and assistance, they issue a joint guidance document to inform lobbyists and the public of how they intend to carry out their registration and disclosure duties.¹¹

The law requires that new registration statements are filed no later than 45 days after the first lobbying contact is made or an individual is employed to make a lobbying contact,¹² quarterly reports are filed within 20 days of the end of each quarterly period,¹³ and semiannual contribution reports are filed "not later than 30 days after the end of the semiannual reporting period."¹⁴ All lobbyists and lobbying firms filing registration and disclosure statements are required to file with the Clerk and the Secretary through a joint portal maintained at <http://lobbyingdisclosure.house.gov>, or <http://www.senate.gov/lobby>.

Electronic Filing

With the enactment of the HLOGA amendments, electronic filings became mandatory, except when an individual is amending documents filed under the previous system, or in instances where electronic filing is not possible for an individual with a condition covered by the Americans with Disabilities Act.¹⁵ Accordingly, the Clerk and the Secretary created a joint electronic registration system, utilizing the previous Senate system's user ID and password protocols.¹⁶ Further, they have developed a website that provides the necessary software applications to make all filings.¹⁷ Detailed instructions on the registration and disclosure process and a summary of filing requirements are available on both the House and Senate lobbying disclosure websites.¹⁸ The

Civil and Criminal Penalties

The law requires the Clerk and the Secretary to notify lobbyists of noncompliance and to notify the U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia of a lobbyist's or lobbying firm's noncompliance, after giving 60 days' notice.¹⁹

The Clerk of the House's Legislative Resource Center and the Secretary of the Senate's Office of Public Records have been given responsibility for reviewing each filing to ensure accuracy and for issuing notices to those who have not complied. If a notice is issued to a registrant, the registrant has 60 days to respond, after which the Clerk and the Secretary may forward instances of noncompliance to the U.S. attorney's office for the District of Columbia.²⁰

Publicly Available Registration and Disclosure Data

The law instructs the Clerk and the Secretary to make registration and disclosure information publicly available for at least six years.²¹ Further, the law requires the Clerk and the Secretary to

(3) develop filing, coding, and cross-indexing systems to carry out the purpose of this Act, including—(A) a publicly available list of all registered lobbyists, lobbying firms, and their clients; and (B) computerized systems designed to minimize the burden of filing and maximize public access to materials filed under this Act; (4) make available for public inspection and copying at reasonable times the registrations and reports filed under this Act.²²

To satisfy the LDA's requirements for public availability,²³ the Clerk and the Secretary established websites for the public to inspect registration and disclosure documents on the internet.²⁴ The Lobbying Disclosure Act Guidance (in Section 10) states that the Clerk and the Secretary will use the internet to deliver the content of the reports.²⁵

Lobbying Disclosure Guidance Document

The HLOGA lobbying amendments to LDA took effect on January 1, 2008. As required,²⁶ the Clerk and the Secretary issued their first joint guidance document on December 10, 2007.²⁷ The guidance document is updated, as needed, to reflect changes in guidance from the Clerk and the Secretary. The guidance document is posted on both the Clerk’s and Secretary’s lobbying websites.²⁸ It was most recently updated on February 28, 2021. Table 1 lists when the Clerk and the Secretary updated the guidance document and the changes made in each update.

February 28, 2021	Updated registration thresholds to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index, as established by the Secretary of Labor. Updates to reflect the enactment of the Justice Against Corruption on K Street Act of 2018 (the JACK Act) were made to require all registration and disclosure filings to include a statement on whether any listed lobbyist “was convicted in a Federal or State court of an offense involving bribery, extortion, embezzlement, an illegal kickback, tax evasion, fraud, a conflict of interest, making a false statement, perjury, or money laundering, the date of the conviction and a description of the offense.” ^g Further, guidance was updated on the identification of clients and covered officials, the definition of covered officials, the listing of lobbyists on registration and disclosure forms, and the listing of affiliates of registrants.

Recent Updates

In January 2019, the Justice Against Corruption on K Street (JACK) Act of 2018 was enacted.²⁹ It amended the LDA to require registration and disclosure forms for registered lobbyists to include for any listed lobbyist who was convicted in a Federal or State court of an offense involving bribery, extortion, embezzlement, an illegal kickback, tax evasion, fraud, a conflict of interest, making a false statement, perjury, or money laundering, the date of the conviction and a description of the offense.³⁰

Accordingly, on March 29, 2019, the Clerk and the Secretary issued a joint letter announcing changes to the LD-1 and LD-2 forms to comply with the JACK Act and provide guidance on reporting to lobbyists affected by the provision.³¹

Further, in March 2021, the Clerk and the Secretary announced that registration thresholds had been updated to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index. LDA requires this adjustment every four years.³² The announcement stated

As required by the LDA, the lobbying disclosure thresholds have been updated to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index (as determined by the Secretary of Labor) during the preceding 4-year period. After January 1, 2021, an organization employing in-house lobbyists is exempt from registration if its total expenses for lobbying activities does not exceed and is not expected to exceed $14,000 during a quarterly period. The $3,000 income threshold per client for lobbying firms remains unchanged.³³

The guidance document is divided into 12 sections. The LDA does not provide the Clerk and the Secretary with the authority to write regulations or issue opinions on the law. The guidance document is only meant as an interpretation of the law, and is not enforceable as law.³⁴

- Section 1—Introduction. Provides background information on the LDA and the responsibilities of the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate in providing guidance to the lobbying community.
- Section 2—What’s New? Identifies changes made to the guidance since the last update.
- Section 3—Definitions. Repeats terms defined in the LDA. These terms include affiliated organizations, reports of certain contributions, client, covered executive and legislative branch officials, lobbying activities, lobbying contact, lobbying firm, lobbying registration, lobbying report, lobbying, and public official, among others. Section 3 also adds the definition of “actively participates” from Section 207 of HLOGA.

- Section 4—Lobbying Registration. Explains the lobbying registration process, including who must register and when registrations are necessary.³⁵ This section also clarifies the preparations for filing registrations, exceptions to lobbying contacts, the 20% activity threshold,³⁶ the difference between a lobbying contact and lobbying activity, alternative reporting methods, and the relationship between the 20% activity and monetary thresholds. The monetary thresholds are updated periodically to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index (CPI). For each area, the guidance document provides examples to illustrate the operation of the section for the lobbying community. In addition, this section provides guidance on when and how to report foreign entity contributions to lobbying activity.³⁷
- Section 5—Special Registration Circumstances. Outlines conditions that could affect the registration of lobbyists or lobbying firms under the LDA. These special circumstances include lobbying firms retained by contingent fees; registration by entities with subsidiaries or state and local affiliates; the effect of mergers and acquisitions; registration for associations, coalitions, churches, and associations of churches; registration for firms hired by churches or church associations; and the registration of professional associations of elected officials.
- Section 6—Quarterly Reporting of Lobbying Activities. Explains when and why quarterly reports are needed, and provides instructions on how to complete lobbying disclosure forms LD-1³⁸ and LD-2.³⁹ In addition, Section 6 defines how to report firm income, indicates when it is appropriate to report income or expenses, provides examples on the type of material that should be included in a quarterly report, indicates that organizations that pay dues to other organizations must report the portion of their dues used for lobbying activities,⁴⁰ removes previous guidance that registrants who previously filed LD-2 forms could be required to file again in the future, even if they did not meet reporting thresholds in a given quarter,⁴¹ reminds filers that “all expenses of lobbying activities

Previous guidance documents stated that “Once an individual has met the definition of a lobbyist and has been disclosed or identified as such, he or she does not need to meet that standard every reporting period in order to trigger the required disclosure of his or her lobbying activities.” This guidance was removed in the June 9, 2009, release.

⁴⁶ Form LD-203 is the lobbying report form used by lobbyists and lobbying firms to fulfill their semiannual reporting requirement of political and other contributions and activities. On June 30, 2008, the Clerk and the Secretary released the LD-203 Contribution Reporting System. To access the system, registrants use the same ID and password required for other lobbying disclosure forms. The LD-203 form can only be viewed through the LD-203 Contribution Reporting System on the lobbying disclosure website at <https://lda.congress.gov/LC>.

⁴⁷ All “active” registrants and individuals who are listed as active lobbyists by their employer on forms LD-1 and LD-2 are required to file form LD-203 by June 30 and December 31 (or the next business day should either occur on a weekend or holiday). A registrant or individual is “active” if the registrant has not submitted a termination form pursuant to Section 8 of the guidance document. LDA Guidance June 2009, p. 18, provides additional clarification by reminding sole proprietors and small lobbying firms of their requirement to file two reports: one by the registrant and one by the listed lobbyist, even if those individuals are the same.

⁴⁸ Lobbying Guidance January 2009, p. 21. The guidance document also contains a reminder that each registrant is responsible for maintaining the integrity and use of their password and notifying the Clerk and the Secretary if a password might have been used without authorization.
