Subtitle D—Miscellaneous Authorities and Limitations

Section 1031 would amend section 130e of title 10, United States Code (U.S.C.), to authorize the Department of Defense to withhold sensitive, but unclassified military tactics, techniques, or procedures, including military rules of engagement, from release to the public under section 552 of title 5, U.S.C. (known as the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)).

The decision of the Supreme Court in Milner v. Department of the Navy, 131 S. Ct. 1259 (2011), significantly narrowed the long-standing administrative understanding of the scope of Exemption 2 of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(2)). Before that decision, the Department was authorized to withhold sensitive information on critical infrastructure and military tactics, techniques, and procedures from release under FOIA pursuant to Exemption 2. Section 130e of title 10, U.S.C., was established in the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 to reinstate protection of critical infrastructure security information. This proposal would amend the existing infrastructure provision to add protections for military tactics, techniques, and procedures and rules of engagement.

The effectiveness of United States military operations is dependent upon adversaries, or potential adversaries, not having advance knowledge of the tactics, techniques, and procedures that will be employed in such operations. If an adversary or potential adversary has knowledge of such information, the adversary will be better able to identify and exploit any weaknesses, and the defense of the homeland, success of the operation, and the lives of U.S. military forces will be seriously jeopardized.

This proposal additionally makes minor amendments to: (1) clarify the citation for the purposes of the OPEN FOIA Act of 2009, (2) remove references to reflect the merger of the Director of Administration and Management with the Deputy Chief Information Officer of the Department of Defense, and (3) removes prohibition on further delegation.

Budget Implications: Exemptions for the release of certain information under FOIA would generate minimal savings to the Administration due to the avoidance of the preparation of select materials for release. However, review of requests will remain a cost to the various FOIA programs throughout DoD whether a release is made or not.

TITLE XII—MATTERS RELATED TO FOREIGN NATIONS

Section 1201 would extend the authority for the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to provide assistance, including training, equipment, supplies, stipends, and other forms of assistance to appropriately vetted elements of the Syrian opposition (VSO). Continued authority to provide assistance and sustainment to the VSO is critical to defeating the Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) and other terrorists in Syria, and to promote a negotiated political settlement to end the conflict in Syria. Extension of this authority is necessary to build on the operational capabilities of both trained and already-fielded VSO forces.
