Russian-American Collaborations to Reduce the Nuclear Danger
“Side-by-Side as Equals”–An Unprecedented Collaboration between the Russian and American Nuclear Weapons Laboratories to Reduce the Nuclear Danger
A round table with Sig Hecker, Steve Younger, Nerses Krikorian, Max Fowler, Don Eilers, Joe Pilat, Ron Augustson, Hugh Casey, Paul White, and Irvin Lindemuth

Part I Roots of the Lab-to-Lab Collaboration
Chronology of the Lab-to-Lab Program
Part II The Lab-to-Lab Program in Scientific Conversion and Nuclear Materials Control
The Participants

Los Alamos and Arzamas-16: the “Sister-Cities” Relationship

Lab-to-Lab Scientific Collaborations Between Los Alamos and Arzamas-16 Using Explosive-Driven Flux Compression Generators
Stephen Younger, Irvin Lindemuth, Robert Reinovsky, C. Maxwell Fowler, James Goforth, and Carl Ekdahl

The Dirac Series–a New International Pulsed-Power Collaboration

Russian-American MPC&A–Nuclear Materials Protection, Control, and Accounting in Russia
Ron Augustson and John Phillips as told to Debra A. Daugherty

The New Independent States Industrial Partnering Program
Hugh Casey

The International Science and Technology Centers in the Former Soviet Union
Steve Gitomer